THE BROOKLYN TURF EVENT

Dr. Rice Wins the $25,000 Stake and Money for His Backers.

OFFICERS AND JUDGES ARRESTED

Forty Thousand People Witness the Great Handicap Race at Gravesend.
The Winner Is Followed by Henry of Navarre, Second, and Sir Walter, Third—An Interesting Review of the Day.

NEW YORK, May 15.—THE Brooklyn handicap, the first big turf event of the season, was won by Dr. Rice in the fast time of 2:08 1/4 today. Over forty thousand persons saw the race. It was an ideal day for the race. The track was in perfect condition and there was every prospect of the record of 2:07 1/2, made by Dry Monopoly, getting lowered. The enclosure was uncomfortably crowded. All the transportation facilities were overtaxed and the work of getting to and from the track was and arduous task.

The betting was so crowded that it was as much as a person's life was worth to attempt to make a wager. I needed the service of a number of a foot ball team to make a bet.

The big event was the fourth race on the card. It was scheduled to take place at 4 o'clock, but it was nearly 4:45 when the flag fell. The horses were at the post nearly forty minutes. Break after break occurred, but no one was even enough to warrant their getting the word. Copyright, Herald, A. J. and Comanche came out to the finish post fully a half dozen times. Copyright's fractious temper was really the chief cause of the delay. Sport, contrary to general expectations, behaved himself well throughout the coming ordeal. Comanche was restive and did considerable back jumping.

Lowlander also gave a grand stand exhibition of bad temper. He managed to unseat McDermott once and had him on his neck several times. A crowd of several thousand persons surged around the course. This made the horses restive. It was finally decided to postpone the race which had been scheduled to take place at 4:45. A start was finally effected. It took to be a fair one for all but Lowlander. Martin, however, did not start. A start was made and Copyright was left standing still. Thompson also began to pull up. Sport just as they got to the flag. McDermott made no attempt to join the field with Lowlander. He simply cantered back to the paddock. Copyright and Sport went after the others, but gave up the unequal struggle very soon.

COPIRIGHT THE PACEMAKER.

Copyright was the pace maker to the first race. He set a clicking pace. Morgan made an effort to draw away from his field as they neared the far turn, but failed signally to do so. Henry of Navarre, who had been his nearest attendant all the way, moved up to him. The instant he was caught by Navarre, Copyright was beaten. Navarre piloted the field into the home stretch. Dr. Rice and Sir Walter who had been in easy positions and well up, with one accord, closed on Navarre as soon as they were headed for home.

A flag-bearer then began. Tarry rode Dr. Rice with the strength and energy that have made him famous. He urged him to the utmost limit of endurance. The game fellow responded to whip and spur to the last gasp, and finally won a superb race by a scant length. Henry of Navarre struggled gallantly to the last gasp. He lasted long enough to beat Sir Walter half a length for the place. Sir Walter was really not up to a training race. The pace and distance began to tell on him. He faltered at the critical juncture. The cry that the favorite was sent the air when Doggett made his effort with the courageous little fellow.

It was premature as Sir Walter was all out and really had nothing left to give to finish. Beside, the imported horse, made a creditable showing. His finish was the strongest of the lot, as none of the others had anything to spare. Comanche took it into his head to run when it was too late. Ajax was never once dangerous or prominent. This also applies to Banquet, Blitzen, Diablo and Herald.

A BOOKMAKER DECAPS.

Fred Foster, the owner of Dr. Rice, bred the horse heavily on the winter books. His winnings aggregate $70,000 in addition to the stake, which was $25,000, $18,000 of which goes to Dr. Rice. A number of persons backed the horse on Snodder's book. When they went to cash in they found an empty box. Snodder had decamped. The accident individual of the lot was a man who held a ticket which read "3,500 to $500, Dr. Rice." Snodder made a future book on the race and owes several thousand dollars.

The disgruntled pool room men are determined to enforce the lottery law as interpreted by Judge Prior, caused the arrest of President P. J. Dwyer and the judges during the afternoon. The arrest, so far as Mr. Dwyer was concerned was a farce. A man from Police Justice Walsh's court told him that he was under arrest and asked him to go before Justice Walsh to-morrow. He promised to do so.

All went well until the third race. Just as the horses were about to the post Sheriff Butler, of Brooklyn, and several deputies quietly took up a stand in the "hot" enclosure. They told the judges that they were under arrest. As soon as the race was run, Judges Simmons, McDowell and Smith were taken before Judge Watson who was holding court in the Gravesend town hall. They were admitted to bail in $1,000 each.

It is said that over sixty warrants have been issued and wholesale arrests will follow. It is the ultimate intention of De Lacey and his cohorts to seize the race horses as gambling paraphernalia. The race track people make light of the affair and say it will all and in smoke. They insist that so long as the live pool bill conditions are complied with no law is violated. The pool room men and their lawyers insist that Judge Prior's decision in the Irving Brott case, in which he declared the live bill unconstitutional, has rendered the bill null and void and that the officers of the Brooklyn Jockey club are violating the lottery law and are liable to a penalty of two years' imprisonment or a fine of $1,000 for each offence.

Howe & Hummel, the consellers for the pool room men, say they will see that the laws are enforced. Stonenell's victory over Dr. Hasbrouck in the inaugural event, was a severe blow to the talent. It was also a factor for the bookmakers. Mr. F. Dwyer began the season with one of his famous plunges. He got the substantial odds of 8 to 1 against him. A neat sum was netted for the Dwyer faction of each of the 110 books that did business on the track's cold Ulica, in the third race. The ex-Tammany chieftain had a liberal commission on his colt. The Dwyer's left Banquet severely alone in the Brooklyn handicap. The stewards appointed by the jockey club for the Brooklyn Jockey club's spring meeting are P. J. Dwyer, John Hunter and J. G. K. Lawrence. Had the judges not secured bail these gentlemen would have judged the races. They, as it happened, had nothing to do.

THE LARGEST TURF REVENUE.
The jockey club has taken upon itself to issue all complimentary and free badges. This made the revenue on Brooklyn handicap day one of the largest in the history of the American turf. The bookmakers are not pleased with the arrangements. They predict disaster on or off wet days, and are strongly opposed to the innovation or, in fact, anything suggested by the jockey club for the benefit or purification of the turf.

ODD FELLOWS PARADE.

Imposing Spectacle at Altoona on the Occasion of the Grand Lodge Meeting.

ALTOONA, Pa., May 15.—The Odd Fellows' parade this afternoon was of course the great public feature in connection with the meeting of the grand lodge and grand encampment. At 2:40 the chief marshal, under the command of General Edward C. Dean, of Scranton, closed behind them came the members of Altoona Canton, No. 24, Uniformed Rank, Knights of Pythias. The Altoona encampment was next in line.

The second division was headed by Marshal A. C. Hamaker. The Key Stone Band of Millville marched directly behind the marshal, being followed in turn by the members of the B. I. Lodge, No. 1009, and by the Verandah Lodge, No. 532, of Altoona, both organizations turning out strongly. The Hollidaysburg Social Band headed a large detachment from the Hollidaysburg lodge, No. 119, the Bellevue lodge, No. 473, of Jamaica, being next in the rank of the parade. Center lodge, No. 156, of Bellefonte, which came next was strongly represented. Behind them came the Fifth Regiment Drum corps, followed by the Logan lodge, No. 1057, the members making a good showing of their straw hats being quite a feature of the parade.

The last group, of Alexandria, Pa., and Mountain City lodge, No. 847, were next on the list, both organizations having many members in line. The model lodge, No. 856, of Roanoke Spring, headed by the drum corps of the Grand Army of the Republic of that borough, marched strongly and well, closely followed by Altoona lodge, No. 473, of Clayburg, No. 713, was the last but one on the list, the rear guard of the parade being the popular B. S. Davis lodge of this city. One item of business transacted at the session of the Daughters of Rebekah this morning is worthy of special note. It was the passage of a resolution to establish a home for Old Fellows at Philadelphia with Mrs. E. M. Erdman as president. The home will be instituted June 7.

TO SAVE THE BATTLEFIELD.
Arguments on the Injunction Case Against Gettysburg Invaders.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 15.—Argument was begun today before Judge Dallas in the United States circuit court in the proceedings of the government to preserve the battlefields at Gettysburg. The motion for the appointment of a jury to condemn about two miles of railway right of way of the Gettysburg, Elevated Railroad company on the battlefields and for an injunction to restrain the company from constructing the proposed trolley road was argued.

The petition of the railroad company to the court to dismiss the motion of the government and to quash the proceedings was filed. The court took the papers and reserved its decision.

BOSTON AGAIN IN FLAMES

A Fire at the Base Ball Grounds Spreads
Over Acres.

MANY POOR FAMILIES HOMELESS

Small Boys Light a Lot of Shavings
Under the Bleaching Boards—Be fore the Conflagration Is Checked
It Has Extended Over Twelve Acres.

BOSTON, May 15, 7 p. m.—THE fire which broke out in the "bleacher" seats on the Boston League Base Ball grounds this afternoon, consumed all the buildings on the base ball grounds, including the grand stand, and some 100 buildings, mostly small wooden dwellings east of the grounds, between Walpole, Burke, Berlin and Tremont streets. From ten to twenty persons were injured. The fire has crossed Tremont street to the east and is spreading. At least 250 families will be rendered homeless.

A 33 p. m.—The fire is under control. Roughly stated about twelve acres have been burned over, from fifty to sixty buildings destroyed and some 500 families made homeless. The fire spread to such an extent that the fire crossed Tremont street to the east in three places, but was confined mainly to the section bounded by Sterling, Burke and Cabot streets.

Several firemen were injured and Chief Webster was badly hurt and taken to the hospital. Several pieces of fire apparatus had to be abandoned. Probably the most valuable building burned was the grand stand on the ball ground, which cost $75,000 and the Franklin school on Tremont street. No attempt has been made as yet to estimate the loss.

Help was summoned from all cities and towns within ten miles of Boston, but proved not to be much.

THE BURNING INTERESTED.
The second of the series of games between the Boston's and Baltimore's had begun before 3:30 o'clock.

Nattled by the thorough defeat of the previous day, the Champions were playing ball for all they were worth, and running bases in a way that threatened to carry everything before them. But two and a half innings had been played and the Baltimore's were to take their turn at the bat.

In the last part of the third inning the contest was interrupted by flames which could be seen rising from the right field bleachers. It was a few minutes after 4 o'clock when the boys in pay clothes fled to the shadows.

A moment afterwards the blaze had spread to such an extent that the boys became frightened at the unexpected results of their folly and ran away. The occupants of the bleachers feeling the warmth under them jumped from their seats in wild amazement and tried to extinguish the flames by tearing the rubbish away and scattering it as best they could, but the blaze refused to be extinguished and gathered headway with a rapidity which surprised them, and in a few minutes was exciting more interest than the national game.

After five or ten minutes of unavailing work some one suggested calling the fire department. The first alarm was rung in at 4:15 p. m. This was followed by a fourth at 4:25, a fifth at 4:42 and a fourth at 4:43. The danger was in getting to work and before any one seemed to realize the danger the flames were beyond control. In fact it was first considered a joke.

In less than three hours some twelve acres of territory were burned. The base ball grand stand and bleachers, a large school house, an engine house and 164 wooden buildings burned and 4,000 families rendered homeless. The loss is conservatively estimated at from $300,000 to $500,000 although one authority puts it at $1,000,000.

ENTIRE DEPARTMENT OUT.

Before 6 o'clock help had been summoned from all cities and towns within a radius of ten miles of Boston. Soon afterward control of the fire was secured and the call was rescinded. A few minutes past 6 o'clock a woman ran screaming from a house on Cabot street with her clothing alight. She made a frantic rush from the street toward the ropes when the patrolmen caught her in their arms, rolled her in the street and thereby saved her life, as she escaped with only a few slight burns.

After the fire had secured headway and had enveloped two tenement houses on streets siding the ball grounds, the cry was raised that five small children were in one of the buildings, and to the second story. "A woman on Burke street, wringing her hands shrieked: 'Where are my children?'"

Next to hand were Charles W. Eaton and Mr. Cusick, of Brooklyn, who had been attending the ball game. They instantly sprang to the rescue of the little ones in the burning building. Mr. Cusick brought out three and Mr. Eaton saved two. They went through clouds of smoke in order to do this with peril to their lives.

WELCH'S NARROW ESCAPE.
Michael Welch escaped into his home to save some personal effects, but the building had then ignited and the flames spread so rapidly that his escape was completely cut off. He rushed to the roof of his building and when enveloped in flames, jumped to the ground, about 30 feet. He landed on his feet, but was severely injured internally, and was picked up in a semi-conscious condition and taken to the City hospital. He will probably recover.

One man whose name could not be learned was seized with prostrations of fear when the fire ignited his home, and the result of the attack was complete prostration. His condition is very precarious.

The following were taken to the hospital slightly injured: William H. Horn, John T. Kane, Timothy F. Nense, Lieutenant Sawyer, of Engine 23; Chief Webster, badly hurt.

Snow Shoe Strikers Serve Warning Upon Them to Cease Work.

BILLINGTON, Pa., May 15.—When the miners went out in the Snow Shoe district this morning they took off their coats and went to work without carrying and shipping two and three a day to supply local trade. MANIAC AND HIS CARVER

Engene Brady Kills His Mother and Wounds
Several Persons.

MAD RACE IS STOPPED BY A COBBLE

The Lunatic in a Fit of Frenzy Runs Wildly About the Streets with Three Knives in His Hands Slashing Right and Left—Plunges a Knife into His Mother's Heart and Also Stabs Four or Five Other People—Captured After a Hard Struggle.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 15.—EUGENE BRADY, a maniac, killed his mother, aged 65, this afternoon in a fit of violence and attempted to kill four other persons. With three knives in his hands, he ran wildly about the streets, cutting right and left, resulting every one he met. Before the police overpowered him he had cut his sister-in-law, Mrs. James Brady, Alfred J. V. Warner, Mrs. John Kelly and Patrick Kelly. Mrs. Kelly's wounds are serious, but it is not thought they will prove fatal. The wounds of the others are not serious.

This afternoon Brady began quarreling with his mother and others for no apparent reason, and they soon determined that he was not in his right mind, as Brady's father has been insane and was released from an asylum but a short time ago. The daughter, Jennie, went to a nearby lumber yard and asked that some of the employees go to the house to quiet her brother. The proprietor and two employees repaired to the house and found Brady in the kitchen yelling at those around him and threatening to kill them. When the men entered the house Brady ran upstairs and jumped from a second story window.

The men ran outside and picked him up. He was unconscious and it was thought that he was seriously injured, but he soon revived and before he could be stopped, jumped up and grabbed a carving knife, a can opener and a carving knife. He then ran out of the house and began a wild and terrible chase through the neighborhood, the people fleeing from him and he made several attempts to cut those who were not quick enough to get out of his way.

His mother and sister followed. The mother came up running and caught hold of her son's arm. The infuriated man became calm and dropped all but the carving knife.

KNIFE DEANED HER HEART.

The two then walked back to the house, and when they reached the yard Brady threw his arms around his mother's neck and kissed her. He then plunged the long knife into her breast, striking her in the heart, and she died in a few minutes. His sister-in-law was standing near and he slashed at her, the knife catching her on the arm. Brady then started on another wild chase for a number of blocks. He was followed by a dozen men who wanted to capture him but when he turned upon them they fled.

A J. V. Warner, who tried to stop him, received a bad wound on the arm. On Green-City street Patrick Kelly was passing a house. As he was bending over Brady came upon him and plunged the knife into his right hip. The wound is not serious.

The undertaker continued on and his next victim was Mrs. John Kelly who ran into her house as Brady approached. The latter followed and plunged the knife into her back as she was running up the stairs. Her wounds are not fatal.

As Brady emerged from the Kelly residence Robert Schneider threw a cobblestone at him which struck him on the head and staggered him for a moment, but he soon recovered and continued on. His pursuers were closing in on him when the police patrol wagon came along. Patrolman Clinch caught hold of him as he stumbled and struck him with his bat. After some clenching, Brady dropped the knife and was thrown to the ground. He was taken to jail and locked up. He is about 35 years old.

MR. HATCH IS FEVERISH.

Congress Enlivened by Threats of War—Progress Made Upon the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Progress made in the senate today on the tariff bill was somewhat encouraging. With no more discussion than such as had immediate relation to the items on the agenda, the bill was passed. They were reached, items from No. 12 to No. 28 were disposed of, leaving the rates of duty as follows: Chloroform, 25 per cent. ad valorem; chloroform, 25 per cent. ad valorem; coal tar, colors or dyes, 25 per cent. ad valorem; oxide of cobalt, 25 per cent. ad valorem.

Colloid 40 cents per pound, rolled or in sheets, but not made up in articles; 50 cents per pound, if finished or partly finished articles, 45 per cent. ad valorem. Coloring for brandy, wine, beer or other liquors 50 per cent. ad valorem. Drugs, such as barks, beans, berries, etc., 10 per cent. ad valorem. Glycerine, wine, etc., 25 per cent. ad valorem. Crude glycerine, not refined, 1 cent. per pound, refined, 3 cents. Ink and ink powder, printers' ink, etc., 20 per cent. ad valorem. Extracts of berries, 5 cents per pound. Castor oil 25 cents per gallon. Cod liver oil 20 cents per gallon.

Dr. Allen, Nebraska, filed a resolution on which he asked immediate action, calling on the secretary of the treasury for information on the following points: Total number of persons engaged in protected industries of the United States whose wages are or may be claimed to be affected by tariff legislation. Objection was made to immediate action, and the resolution went over until to-morrow. The senate at 6 p. m. adjourned.

The house made a business record in the proceedings of today's session. Consideration of the naval appropriation bill was concluded and the bill passed. As reported by the committee the bill carried a total appropriation of $25,287,966, this was increased $5,500 by the action of the committee on the whole. The agricultural appropriation bill for the coming year was then taken up in committee of the whole, and six of the twenty-six pages considered, under the five minute rule. As reported the bill carries a total appropriation of $1,187,648, being less by $142,855 than the appropriations in the bill for the current year.

In the course of a discussion upon an amendment offered by Mr. Moses, (Dem., Ga.), reducing from $2,500 to $2,000 the figure of the salary of the pathologist of the department, an acrimonious personal controversy occurred between Chairman Hatch and Mr. Hopkins, (Rep., Ill.). The latter criticized the failure of the chairman of the committee either in the statement made in explanation of the bill or in the report accompanying the measure to present to the house the information brought out in Mr. Moses' amendment, and spoke of the effort of the gentleman from Missouri to juggle through a change in the salary named.

Mr. Hatch hotly resented what he termed the insinuation contained in Mr. Hopkins' remark, saying that he would not permit him or any other gentleman to charge underhanded methods upon him, and adding that if the word "juggle" were used in the record, he would be attached to it and if it should be repeated outside the chamber, it would be rammed down his throat.

Mr. Hopkins, responding, said that he did not know, after Mr. Hatch's remarks, whether or not he should need a body guard from the Capitol to his residence this evening, but he would not care in what sense he took the word.

Mr. Moses' amendment was defeated. In the morning hour several private and important bills were passed and a bill placed on the calendar to make labor day a national holiday.

Owing to the absence of Speaker Crisp, due to the death of Mrs. Crisp's mother, H. Representative Dockery, of Missouri, acted as pro tem for the day. At 5 o'clock the house adjourned.
